Report from Basic course in Macedonia

Second module on Basic Course, Tetovo-Macedonia

The second seminar was organized from Migjen Amzai, responsible for Macedonian group and with help of young psychologist Mrs. Zumera Alili

The seminar was hold from 3-5th June 2011 in University City of Tetovo.
Trainer was Mr.Sci. Enver Cesko, Master trainer.

The seminar was participated 7 students for three days.

Title of second module was “Positive Conflict Resolution” .

With participants, during three days, it was discussed reflections on usage of PPT in their personal life as self reflection from first module. The themes that we teach was; human interaction and communication, three stages of interaction and conflict dynamic, basic capabilities as potential for development, actual conflict and actual capabilities, secondary and primary capabilities, micro-trauma and conflict content, DAI, basic conflict, family culture, concepts and tradition, effects of cultural values on relationships, development of actual capabilities in four dimensions, positive interpretation of conflict disorders as psychodynamic hypothesis. During the sessions I did group work and self discovery practice.

The group was very enthusiastic and show high level of interest while they work in group and individually. It seems that this group is very motivated for going in deeper level of their education and are very much motivated for second master level.

In the end of each day I had intervision group sessions regarding their homework and self experiences.

Our next seminar for third module will be on September, 2-4th this 2011.

In the end enjoy looking some photos from second module in Macedonia.
